

CHARGE AGAINST DR. KIERNAN NOILED ON RECONCILIATION

A reconciliation between Dr. J. M. Kiernan, now residing at 46 Sanford avenue, and recently practicing medicine in New Haven, has been effected. It was his wife, Mary, of 377 Beach street, New Haven, who brought the charge against him in the city court when a recommendation for a nolle was made by Prosecutor DeLoane.

Dr. Kiernan had been arrested upon a warrant charging non-support. It is understood that the couple will return to domestic happiness in their West Haven home.

Bars Lawyer's Questions As to Wife's Conduct In Non Support Case

When counsel for Howard Sweeney, a cabaret singer, tried to question Mrs. Sweeney about her husband's conduct in her non-support case in the city court today, Judge Coughlin refused to admit such testimony. Sweeney was ordered to pay $5 a week for the support of his wife and child.

FATHER OF 18 FOUND DEAD FROM EXPOSURE

Joseph Kasehmar, aged 60, the father of 18 children, and for many years a laborer at the Bridgeport Brass Co., was found dead today in the rear of the bakery operated by Louis Frankel at 100 Kelly street where he had recently slept under the roof of a small horse stable in preference to seeking to Lakeview home.

The body was discovered at an early hour this morning by Joseph Zueland, a baker's boy, when he went to look up a delivery horse. Medical Examiner Samuel S. Garlick called to investigate the death is of the opinion that the infirm man died from a disorder of the liver.

When last seen by employees of the bakery, he was often warmed himself or got pieces of bread to eat, he complained of feeling ill and it is believed that while on his way to or from the left over the horse he fell to the ground and probably died from weakness resulting from his malady and exposure.

The body was removed to the Cullinan & Mullins city morgue where it is expected to be claimed by a brother or working for the Sprague Ice company and living at 206 Church street. He is survived by one son and a wife and eleven children in Bridgeport.

According to a friend, John Synek, who runs a saloon on Kelly street, the aged man has long been infirm and out of work.

NEW POLICE LIGHTS TO BE IN OPERATION BY MONDAY EVENING

The new police lights, located in various sections of the city upon standards rising from the joint fire and police box stations, will be in operation Monday night. There are eighteen of them in the city, erected by the General Electric Alarm System Co., New York. Engineer Louis Hill of that company, accompanied by Electrician Eberhard A. Ladd of the police department and Arthur Platt, electrician of the fire department, gave the system final tests today which showed all in working order.

These lights, giving a constant red glow within a large globe are so constructed that in the event of a general police alarm being sent out from headquarters or any precinct station the lights may be "flashed" in which event all patrolmen will at once report through the street boxes nearest at hand.

Will Send Delegation To Capitol to Try for Better Trolley Service

Next week a committee from the North End Improvement association will appear before the General Assembly to urge the improvement of trolley service at Hartford. At present the North Main street cars only run to Winthrop street. Rev. Nestor Light, pastor of the Bethany chapel is a member of the committee. At meeting in the chapel last night Compensation Commissioner E. T. Buckingham addressed the members and urged them to take an active part in political affairs, saying that by such action they would be more apt to obtain various improvements which the members desire.

A committee will shortly be sent to the common council to ask for sewers and more lights in the North End. In view of the raise in the taxes and the fact that this section of the city has been included in the Second tax district.

Jasper McLevy, several times the Socialist party candidate for mayor, told the members that he was willing to do anything he could to aid them. He said he was obliged to leave that section of the city because the North End did not have proper trolley communication with the other parts of the city.

A. Dana, president of the Men's club of Olivet Congregational church, spoke encouragingly of the aims of the association and pledged the association of which he is president to aid in the work of the organization in anything it attempted for civic betterment.

JACOBS, TROLLEYMAN, DEAD IN BRASS CITY

On a special funeral trolley car and accompanied by a guard of honor of his trolleyman associates and the Waterville Woodmen of the World, the body of William B. Jacobs, assistant superintendent for the Waterville division of the Connecticut Co., and formerly an inspector for the company in this city, who died yesterday in Watbury, aged 35 years, will be brought here for burial.

The funeral will be held at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon from the mortuary chapel of H. B. Bishop in Fairfield avenue. Jacobs was a prominent member of the Woodmen of the World. The burial will be in the Union cemetery, in Easton, the town in which Jacobs was born and where his mother and two sisters still reside. Besides these relatives his widow also survives him.

Jacobs, for several years, was stationed at Fairfield avenue and Main street as car dispatcher and inspector and by his untiring courtesy and good nature he made hosts of friends here.

Due to a position of trust and prominence with the company, he employed him by sheer merit and hundreds of his associates in the Connecticut Co. employ will sincerely mourn him.

CITY COURT

In the city court, Judge Coughlin, sitting in the case of Mildred Bell, held under $50 bonds for keeping a house of ill fame, with five women frequenting under bonds of $15 each, was called to order by Judge Coughlin. The case continued until February 15.

Louis Fanteleto, 200 North Washington avenue, accused of assault with intent to kill upon Antonio Testani, 50 Columbus place, pleaded not guilty. Attorney Fallon, in entering his plea, asked for a discharge upon the ground that while it would not be denied that a pistol had been fired there was no malice between the men and no attempt was made upon the life of Testani.

The prisoner was held for the superior court under bonds of $1,000.

The cases against twenty hotel and room proprietors of this city charged by the state police with maintaining gambling devices in the form of slot machines again were continued until the 15th upon the plea of lawyers who have just been retained.

The weekly meeting of the ladies who are doing work for the Belgium refugees took place yesterday afternoon in the Wakeman Memorial building.

The Southport schooner was visible on the Sound, sailing east, a day or so ago. Some 25 years ago often one could count 25 schooners sailing this course in a favoring wind. Such a marine scene sent a charm to the cookers on the coast.

This week the Southport-Bridgeport Bridge club was entertained by Miss Helen Hayes, at her home in Fairfield. The usual game of bridge was played resulting in a victory for Miss Hayes, who was assisted by Miss Mildred Taylor, of Southport, capturing the prize. After the game a dainty repast was served by the hostess.

Mrs. Ernest Jennings entertained the club of "The Many Howlands" at her home last evening, when the work of rehearsal of the various parts was continued.

The King's Daughters of the Methodist church are to present their play, "The Many Howlands," at a recent meeting. The exact date, however, has not yet been selected.

A number of local members attended the masquerade dance given by the members of the Junior class of the Staples' High school, Westport.

Preparations are being made by members of the Woman's Guild of the Trinity church for a series of sermons during the Lenten season.

Mrs. Josephine Bradley is recovering from a recent attack of rheumatism.

Mrs. James D. Jennings is entertaining her niece at her home on Harbor road.

Several of the local members of the Christian Endeavor society attended the rally at Olivet church, Bridgeport, Tuesday evening.

VIOLETS LEADING FLOWER AT FUNERAL OF BLIND POETESS

Violets, the favorite flower of the dead hymnist, Fanny Crosby, will probably be the floral offering to be held from the First Methodist church on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. George M. Brown, pastor of the church will officiate at the service. Other arrangements have not yet been completed but the funeral will probably be one of the largest ever held in this city. Many delegates from the different circles of King's Daughters throughout the state, of which Miss Crosby was a dearly beloved honorary member, have already signified their intention to attend. Most of the circles are also sending beautiful floral pieces.

The local circle of King's Daughters which was named in honor of the blind poetess, will occupy pews immediately back of the relatives and waiters at the funeral. The service of the hymns of the beloved writer will come long distances to attend the funeral.

EP SCOPAL LETTER ISSUED BY B.SHOP ON LENTEN SEASON

Regulations of Penitential
Period Issued By Head of Hartford Diocese

Rt. Rev. John J. Nilan has addressed a letter concerning the observance of Lent to the priests of his diocese, which is printed in the Catholic Transcript as follows:

Episcopal Residence,
Hartford, Conn.,
Feb. 9, 1915.

Dear Father:—

The holy season of Lent should be observed by the faithful of this diocese in accordance with the following regulations:

1. The sick and delicate are not bound either to fast or to abstain.

2. The aged and persons under 21 years of age are not bound to fast, but must abstain on abstinence days.

3. The abstinence days for the laboring class are Fridays, Ash Wednesday and Wednesday and Saturday of Holy Week.

4. The abstinence days for all other persons are the Wednesdays and Fridays, and the second and last Saturday of Lent.

5. All who are engaged in an exacting occupation are not restricted to one meal a day and may eat meat at all meals except on abstinence days.

6. Both meat and fish at the same meal are not permitted on any day of Lent.

7. Those who are bound to fast are allowed to take only one full meal a day. In the morning, however, they may take a cup of tea, coffee or chocolate with a piece of bread. In the evening they may take a collation. At this collation it is lawful to use fish, eggs, cheese, butter and milk, but the quantity of solid food should not exceed ten ounces. Meat is allowed only at the principal meal of the day. This meal may be taken in the evening and the collation at noon.

8. Sundry persons are bound to fast or abstain.

The faithful should be reminded that the law which formerly obliged everyone to fast and abstain on all the days of Lent has been modified and is now only by special dispensation of the Holy See. In granting this dispensation the Sovereign Pontiff requests that those who take advantage of it abstain from other good works, giving alms to the poor, abstaining from intoxicants and attending the Lenten exercises in the church. The customary Lenten exercises of the Rosary of the Blessed Virgin, Sermon, of the Cross and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Yours sincerely,
JOHN J. NILAN,
Bishop of Hartford.

PROBE NEW ANGLE OF TIMKO CASE.

State Policemen were to-day investigating a clue, a story that John Timko, the man who was found shot and dying in his little store in State street, extension, Fairfield, last Sunday, had a strange visitor about an hour before he was found. Timko's relatives are loath to believe that he committed suicide and incline to the theory that he was the victim of foul play.

Coroner Phelan is inclined to the belief that Timko committed suicide, although he has made no official finding. At his instance William A. Thomas, ballistic engineer for the Remington Arms Co. of C. C. examined both the empty shell found on the floor, the shell in the magazine of the rifle and the weapon itself. He announced to-day that the cartridges had been exploded recently. There were two exploded cartridges but only one bullet wound in Timko's head.

Coroner John J. Phelan, appearing as an attorney of record in the city court today condemned in the strongest language the inadequacy of the room for the business now transacted there.

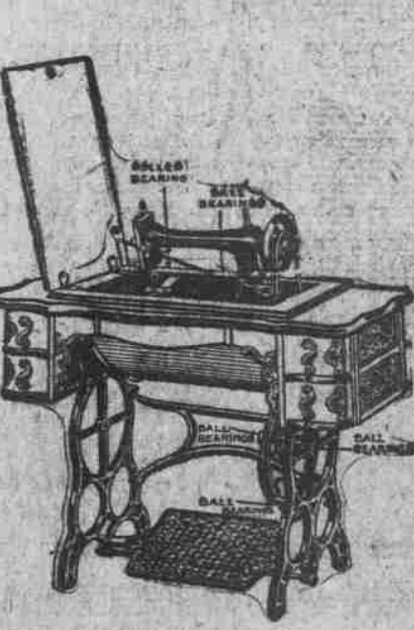

HOWLAND'S

Entrances in Main Street, Fairfield Avenue, and Cannon Street.

Bridgeport, Conn. The weather: Cloudy and warmer tonight; Sunday rain and warmer.

Saturday, Feb. 13, 1915.

The Howland club sends machine home for one dollar.

Every woman admitted to the Howland club may buy a Howland machine at its regular cash price and pay for it in small amounts spread over a period of several months.

She may choose any type of machine she wishes, sign her membership agreement, pay one dollar, and the selected machine will be delivered at once.

The dollar which insures delivery of a machine is not an extra dollar added to the price of the machine. It is the first dollar paid on the machine's regular cash price. The balance of the price is paid in stated monthly amounts. There is not one extra penny to pay; no membership fee, no interest charge, nothing but the regular low cash price.

Howland machines sell at $15 to $39, according to type.

They could not be sold at these prices, if we did not handle them like dry goods—in large quantities and at small profit.

Every machine is guaranteed to do satisfactory work in the home; to stand up for years of service; to be thoroughly satisfactory.

Every machine will do any sort of home sewing—quietly, smoothly, easily, finely.

Ball and roller bearings insure ease of running. Excellent control devices insure a stitch that shall be even and satisfactory.

A Howland machine is worthwhile in any home sewing-room. It will prove its worth quickly, under test. Each woman who reads this is invited to come and make such a test—and to make it as thorough and rigid as she wishes.

We say: Your money back, if your purchase is not satisfactory. Saying
